

The Bulldogs' longest-serving player in 2009, Hazem El Masri is not only a loyal servant but also one of rugby league's most prolific point-scorers. In fact, he heads into the coming season needing just seven points to surpass Andrew Johns as the highest point-scorer in Premiership history and will also become the 12th player to play 300 first grade games.

053

© SELECT AUSTRALIA 2009 © NRL 2004